WHAT HAS RECOME OF THE CORN? WHAT HAS BECOME OF THE CORN?

MHAT HAS DECOME OF THE CORN?

What has become of the vast amount of corn thus shipped to the seaboard is not definitely known here. A well-informed trader said to an Associated Frees reporter some days ago, when talking of the matter, that he understood that arrangements had been made in advance by which a large part of it had gone abroad, but the gold and stock gossip reports that this grain has been furned over to an eastern firm, the price being margined down sufficiently to give that firm an outlook of profit in it. Much of this grain was lought at between 60 and 7cc., against less than 50c. as the price to-day.

THE LOSS TO THE CLIQUE A MILLION.

Failure.

One estimate of the quantity of corn involved in the deal puts it at 10,000,000 bushels and the average loss on it at ten cents per bushel, or $1,000,000, but this is, of course, mere guess-work. Certain it is, however, that the amount of corn brought out from the presumably empty cribs in the corn belt has been many times more than was expected. In the latter part of July and the first of August, when the deal was in its early stage, there was talk of a corn main before the arrival of supplies from the next crop. There was part to do and white & Co. was a segments. There are this announced.

CINCAGO. September 22.—Crazy with jealousy and drink. Oscar Gundemann, a laborer, this morning, at his home on the North Side, blew out his wife's brains with a revolver and then ended his own life in the same manner. The couple had been living together unhanpily for some time. Because of the husband's cruelty Mrs. Gundemann had him arrested arch held in bonds to keep the peace. This, it is thought, was the cause of the tragedy.

REVIEWED BY THE MAYOR.

As the procession passed the Mayor's residence it was reviewed by his Honor amid the greatest enthusiasm, each division making the welkin ring with hearty cheers.

When the procession reached Seventh and Broad streets both those on foot and those on horse-back were massed around a huge pile of blazing tar-barrels, and amid a volley of fireworks, and to the combined strains of the bands "The Watch on the Khine" and the Star-Spangled Banner were sung.

It appeared as if the whole city turned out to witness the parade. In the business section through which it passed the pauements were lined with men, women, and children, and in the residential section tae yards and porticoes were crowded.

CALLED ON THE MAYOR.

After the parade was dismissed President A. von N. Resenegk, of the German-American Association, and President C. Fred. Kohler, of the Young Men's Association, and other officers of the two organizations and a number of the aides called upon the Mayor at his residence and were entertained by him.

NOTES OF THE NIGHT. When the marchers got through with their long jaunt they were pretty tired, but numbers of them participated at Sanger Hall in the usual festive gathering Sanger Hall in the usual festive gathering that winds up such occasions.

The plan adopted of distributing fireworks as far they could be discharged from the sidewalks instead of the procession greatly enhanced the effect.

While the procession was passing the corner of Eighth and Broad streets one of the aides jumped from his horse to thrash a troublesome person who had been annoying him, whereupon two men from the dense crowd assailed him and when he again mounted his steed one of his eyes was considerable swelled. In the excitement of the moment no arrests were made and it is doubtful if the aide could recognize the men who so unsuspectingly pounced upon him.

This was the only irregular feature of the parade, and it only attracted the attention of a few near bystanders.

One of them, however, which came to hand this morning may have some bearing upon it. This was dated Santiago, September 21st, and was signed by George Montt, the President of the Junta. It was very brief, and simply said: "Tranquility prevails." Mr. Julio Foster, who is assisting the Envoys here and who just now is in charge of their headquarters in the absence of Mr. Pedro Montt from the city, is of opinion that the dispatch refers to the condition of affairs in Chile after the death of Balfaceda, and that the reason why Mr. Montt makes no mention of the tragedy is because he assumes that it is already very well known.

At a late hour last night Acting-Secretary Wharton received a cablegram from United States Minister Egan confirming the report of the suicide of Balmaceda at Santiago.

THE LOST TAORMINA.

[By Anglo-American cable to the Dispatch.]

London, Eng., September 22.—A Dutch journalist, who is one of the survivors of the Italian steamship Taormina, recently sunk after collision off Cape Colonno, on the coast of Greece, by the Greek steamship Thessalia, has written a letter in which he makes serious charges against the Italian officers. He says that the Laormina's crew, headed by the first officer, basely deserted the captain, and that they clambered like rats on board the Thessalia. Only a handful of sailors, the journalist adds, remained loyal, and they were unable to lower the Laormina's boats, which were filled with miscellaneous articles so securely fixed and sheltered from the sea that it was impossible to launch them. Continuing, he says the passengers could not find any life-belts, life-rafts, or life-saving appoaratus of any kind, and he attributes the great loss of life (about sixty-six drowned) to these defects. In conclusion this Taormina survivor comments strongly upon the well-known company to which the sunken steamer belonged for sending a steamer so badily equipped to sea with a large number of passengers on board.

united action of the party.

A GOOD STEAKER.

Hon. Thomas W. Scott, candidate for the Senate, was also present and made a handsome speech, which elicited the most favorable comment. Dr. A. S. Priddy, his opponent for the nomination, appeared and pledged his support. Hon. Callen Carrington, chairman of the Democratic party of Charlotte, and Hon. James T. Gillian, a prominent Alliance official of the same county, were present and solid for severt. The genial ex-United States Martshal, from present indications, is beyond doubt the coming senator, and he is Democratic to the core.

The REGILLAR THE FAVORITE.

The meeting continued for several hours, members of the Alliance predominating in numbers, and the result was unmistakably to the interest of the regular Democratic on mince.
